This beautiful solar-powered hummingbird feeder does not need batteries. It charges itself during the day using the sun's rays and than lights up at night as the illuminated colours change in steady succession.

Introduction to Classical Music

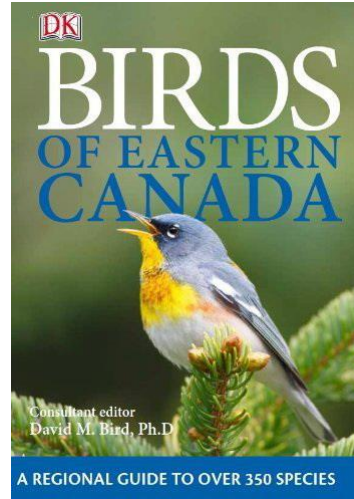

Historically, birds have captured the imagination of composers and inspired many classical works. Mozart, Tchaikovsky, Vivaldi and other composers have created well-known classical pieces. Children, and adults alike, love to discover melodic similarities between birdsong and the notes produced by instruments like the flute, the organ and the harpsichord. Beautifully illustrated, the book also contains a glossary of musical terms, a short biography of the composer and a brief description of each bird mentioned in the musical pieces. The CD has twenty songs performed by internationally renowned masters, including the London Symphony Orchestra, the Moscow Symphony Orchestra and the Toronto Chamber Orchestra.

The book is in French but the bird-inspired music transcends languages.
